【Course Objectives and Focus : 授業の到達目標及びテーマ】
The Constitution of Japan is the supreme law of our country, and you must know it to truly understand the social and political structure of Japan. You can also understand Japanese political landscape through this lecture. This lecture is about the law, but you do not need any legal knowledge for taking the lecture.
【Course Summary : 授業の概要】
In this lecture, we will overview the Constitution of Japan. The Constitution mainly consists of two parts; human rights and government structure. In fall term's lecture (Constitution I ), I will lecture on the former part. In spring term, I will lecture on the part of human rights. I will strongly recommend students to take the fall lecture as well for fully understanding our Constitution. Moreover, it is much easier to catch up what I will talk if you have already taken the fall lecture.
