Describe familiar social themes logically and objectively. 4. Use about 500 kanji and expressions in an essay.
【Course Summary: 授業の概要】
This class is designed for students who have completed the elementary Japanese class. Japanese Writing B (III) and Japanese Reading B (III) are continuous and we aim to improve reading and writing skills. The writing topics will include things such as e-mail and letters to close friends and superiors, places and things that you would like to recommend, and writing opinions on familiar social issues. Since this writing class is linked to the reading B (III) class, the themes and content of the sentences in the reading material can serve as a model for writing. In class, before writing a sentence, the outline is created while talking about the topic with other students. After that writing rules will be introduced and practiced. Based on the outline and writing rules, students will write their essays for submission.
【Study Required outside Class (Preparation etc): 事前・事後学習】
Students are expected to check the class schedule details and information on the class Moodle daily. A quiz on Moodle to evaluate writing rules comprehension must be completed before the deadline. Class assignments need to be submitted in class on time. Late submission or incomplete assignments will result in reduced scores.
