【Course Objectives: 授業の到達目標】
Successful completion of this course means that the student will:
1) be able to identify basic concepts of human communication in general, and intercultural understanding in particular:
particular; 2) be equipped with sufficient and necessary attitudes toward becoming a competent intercultural communicator;
3) acquire specific and practical skills for effective intercultural communication and cross-cultural adaptation; and
4) assess and evaluate intercultural communication competence of oneself and others, and offer constructive suggestions.
【Course Summary: 授業の概要】
	This course aims to help the student become a competent intercultural communicator. Focusing on communication with Japanese, we will examine language, nonverbal signs, social norms, and traditions, that constitute culture. The
